

CONTINUE GREAT WORK OF RED CROSS BY ANSWERING CALL

Mason Countians Should Remember Great Work of Red Cross and Answer Roll Call.

The Mason County Chapter of American Red Cross is again calling your attention to the drive that is now going on in this city and county for membership. It has been the historic duty of the American Red Cross to hold itself in readiness for emergency when it springs unheralded into being, leaving in its wake suffering and death. In caring for the dead and injured and in providing shelter and food for the homeless, the Red Cross expended, during the past year, seven hundred and seventy-eight thousand, three hundred and forty-six dollars. The knowledge that this organization is watchfully waiting for the first call of necessity is alone sufficient to justify its existence and to call for the earnest support and hearty co-operation of people everywhere. There are still perils to face; there is still suffering to assuage; there is still duty that summons as insistently as they called amid the conflagration of war—service for the disabled men who answered their country's call, and for families still shadowed by the catastrophe of the great conflict. All these things, conceived and carried on in the spirit of the Brotherhood of Man, surely constitute an appeal which can not be refused.

GOLDEN JUBILEE SERMON TO BE AT CLEVELAND

Bishop Burton Will Deliver Sermon at Church Founded By His Father.

Bishop Lewis W. Burton, of the Lexington, diocese, will be in Cleveland, Ohio, to preach Sunday the golden jubilee sermon in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of All Saints Episcopal church, which was founded by his father, Rev. Lewis Burton, D. D.

The Rev. Mr. Burton, who was for 47 years a clergyman in Cleveland, succeeding his brother, Rev. William N. Burton, as rector of St. Johns parish there in 1847 and during his service there founded 2 missions. He had charge of the two mission churches of St. Johns until they were out of debt and had been consecrated and one of them, All Saints church, was the first charge of his son, now Bishop Burton, after his graduation from ministerial school. Bishop Burton was associated with his father in Cleveland for seven years before going to his first independent parish, St. Johns, of Richmond, Virginia.

It is also a coincidence that Bishop Burton succeeded as rector at St. Andrews church, Louisville, his maternal uncle, Rev. John S. Wallace. He was in charge of the Louisville church when made bishop.

ASH DAVIS CARTOONIST

Friday night, November 17th, the Maysville folks will have a chance to see and hear one of the most celebrated cartoonists on the platform to-day. After 6 o'clock Friday, they will be on sale at the High School building.

DAMAGE SUIT OF $5,000.

In the Fleming Circuit Court last week a damage suit for $5,000 was filed by Travis Kendall against James and George Peck.

The petition alleges that plaintiff was assaulted without cause by defendants on October 30 and damaged to the extent of $5,000.

At the recent term of court defendants were indicted for the alleged offense.—Fleming Gazette.

HUNTERS GO FORTH.

Despite the rain and the threatening weather of Wednesday, there were many local Nimrods who could not withstand the temptation to take to the field on the first day of the open season. There were many rabbits brought to town and most every tract had them for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gillespie have returned from a few days visit to his uncle, Mr. R. L. Gillespie, of Lexington.

GREAT CARTOONIST AT HIGH SCHOOL ON FRIDAY EVENING

High School Lyceum Number Friday Evening Is Particularly Interesting To the People of This Section.

The third number on the Maysville High School Lyceum program will be Ash Davis, the famed cartoonist, on next Friday evening and considerable interest is being shown in this number.

Mr. Davis is unique. He is three in one—cartoonist, lecturer and story teller, so artistically blended as to make an ideal entertainer. He paints word pictures as impressive as his drawings are beautiful. The entertainment is divided into three parts, each built around fundamental truths. His humor is pure and wholesome and his lecture, while witty and entertaining, has plenty of food for thought. His drawings are large and made in colors and are reputed to be the best on the platform. The landscapes are perfect gems of art. He is a man of spotless character, a great lover of children, and he will do your young people a world of good. Mr. Davis is not an amateur. In thirteen years he has given almost two thousand entertainments. He knows how and does make good.

Some personal comment from prominent men follows:

I consider Ash Davis one of the best cartoonists and artists on the Chautauqua platform.—Wm. Jennings Bryan.

Ash Davis pleased immensely. He is a fine artist and a good talker. We want him again next year.—W. H. Raehle, Chairman Entertainment Committee, Cincinnati, Ohio, Teachers' Course.

Ash Davis made good. Nothing we have had as an evening number during the whole course of our season, has held our great audience better. His talk is excellent and his pictures the finest I have ever seen presented. Some of them are gems of beauty, and all of them are lightning-quick and clever.—Frank James, Superintendent Fremont, Nebraska, Chautauqua.

INSPECTION OF KEROSENE IN CANS NOT REQUIRED

Lewis Circuit Court's Decision in Oil Inspector Case Is Affirmed by Court of Appeals Settling Big Question.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 14.—Judgment of the Lewis Circuit Court in favor of the Standard Oil Company, indicted in that county on a charge of failing to have oil containers inspected and failing to put the inspection stamp on the containers, was affirmed by the Court of Appeals today in an opinion by Judge Settle.

The case was submitted on an agreed statement of facts, which showed that an agent of the company at Vanceburg had carried a gallon of kerosene taken from a tank car to the inspector, who had tested it, and delivered to customers, the cans being emptied and retained by the Standard Oil Company.

The court said that, while it might be unusual for the inspector not to take his own samples out of the car, still an inspection was made, and the requirement for containers to be delivered as inspected, applied only to barrels and cans in which oil was delivered in bulk to customers. It was not necessary for the company to stamp its own cans, which its agent emptied into containers of the customers, and retained.

DRUG STORE WILL BE REOPENED UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Mr. James M. Riley Purchases Peoples Drug Store and Will Open First Class Drug Store Immediately at Prominent Corner.

A deal of considerable importance was closed Tuesday when Mr. James M. Riley, popular local business man, purchased the stock and fixtures of the Peoples' Drug Company as well as the lease on the building at Second and Court streets.

Mr. Riley has employed Mr. M. F. Williams, well known local druggist, who will be in direct charge of the prescription and drug departments. These gentlemen began work Wednesday morning straightening out the stock of goods and taking a complete inventory so that new stock can be immediately purchased to make the stock complete and up-to-the-minute. They expect to be enabled to re-open this popular store on next Saturday with everything that can be found in an up-to-date drug store.

The new firm will be known as the Riley Drug Company and Mr. Riley will be personally in charge of the entire store insuring the people of Maysville and Mason county the best possible service. There is not a better or more favorably known young business man in Mason county than James M. Riley. His reputation for square dealing will be behind the new concern and this is sufficient to make it one of the city's most important business concerns from the very outset. We predict for the new concern great success.

MRS. J. J. DUNCAN DIES.

KENTUCKY YOUTH URGED TO JOIN AGRICULTURAL CLUBS

Governor Issues Proclamation Calling Upon Youth of the State to Join Junior Agricultural Clubs.

A Frankfort dispatch says: Boys and girls of Kentucky were urged to join the junior agricultural clubs conducted by the University of Kentucky in a proclamation issued today by Governor Edwin P. Morrow. The campaign for membership in the clubs will run from November 20 to 25, according to the proclamation, this time being set aside as Junior Agricultural Week.

"Know the soil of your land, learn to love it, have faith in it and belief in the dignity of the man and woman who in the great out-of-doors produce food and clothing for the world," the Governor's proclamation stated.

"To plow is to pray; to plant seed is to prophesy; to gather the harvest is a fulfillment of love and hope; to produce from the soil is to serve both God and man."

"A great enrollment of the boys and girls of Kentucky in the junior agricultural clubs means a better, thriftier, happier Kentucky."

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

TO FAR-OFF GOAL

Perhaps one of the saddest events connected with the history of this city involving the sudden passing of a human soul, occurred here on a hot August afternoon in 1900. On this particular occasion a small group of gentlemen were sitting in the shady yard of the court house, conversing informally on general topics, when an aged pedestrian, tall and neatly dressed, whom no one seemed to know, approached and asked in polite accents if he might sit a while and rest, as he had been walking all day. We welcomed him and he took a seat.

He proved to be a man of affable manners and diversified knowledge, and from the very first we were charmed with his singular magnetism. Although his brow was pale, he seemed physically robust. His long white hair and beard gave him the appearance of an aged prophet marching along the last lap of life's rugged pathway; and as we looked on his kindly, serene face, which seemed to diffuse a kind of subdued radiance, we felt instinctively the presence of a man who was following in the footsteps of HIM whose pity is infinite and whose love undergirds the vast world.

There could be no mistake. Certainly lofty souls, refined and cast forth from the abyss of some frightful suffering or misfortune, at times manifest these strange, luminous phenomena. Here, indeed, was the rare and tranquil beauty of age—the reflected splendor of a profound internal peace.

In the ensuing conversation the stranger took part with easy freedom, commenting with intelligence on the attractive features of the city, and noting in particular the noble Corinthian architecture of the Temple of Justice, in whose shadow the little party was sitting. He had also observed, he said, some interesting scenes bits from the highway over which he had come, as well as some wonderful cloud effects in the evening sky, as he approached the city. For some strange reason, which would be difficult to explain, no one inquired whence he had come or whither he was going, and when he rose to depart we were a little regretful, for his presence had seemed to us a benediction. Pointing toward the setting sun, he said he was traveling homeward in that direction and ventured the conjecture that there was a river he would soon have to cross. There was, in truth, a stream in his pathway, but it was dark and cold. He was never to see it with his mortal eyes, for as he bade us adieu and turned into the street he suddenly lurched, clutched wildly in the air above his head and fell heavily backwards upon the earth, where he lay quite still. An unseen icy finger had suddenly touched and forever stilled his heart. He heaved a gentle sigh, but from his lips, on which a red, fish foam presently appeared, no word came. Wrapped in gloom and chilled in this dreadful presence, we stood bewildered before this tragic spectacle, knowing full well that the spirit of the venerable traveler had indeed gone home.

Thus terminated this historic but mournful incident. Today, out there among the silent sleepers, where the night wind moans a melancholy dirge among the cypress trees and lettered marble, may be found his entombed dust, as well as the hidden story of his hapless life.—Clay Sutton, in Lancaster Central-Record.

WEEKS RENEWS SHOALS LEASE

Secretary of War Weeks has given the Alabama Power Company a year's renewal of its lease on the Muscle Shoals steam plant. It will be recalled that the plant was included in the properties that Henry Ford wished to acquire, but as his offer is still a subject of negotiation the present arrangement has been continued. Thrift is the controlling policy in the War Department, and none of its assets are permitted to remain idle if they can possibly be utilized.

"Most men marry a girl they love little to escape marrying one the love less."

"A wife is so irrevocable and interminable. You have to put up with her all day, and, what's worse, all night, too. And that not for an age but for all time. You've even got to do it, I suppose, in the life beyond. Fancy waking up in the next world and seeing your wife still there!"

She had not the imagination to believe he could be as great as he dreamed. It wanted imagination to think that a child whose neck she had washed could be the equal of Thackeray or Dumas. "But even Shakespeare," thought David, "must have had his neck washed by someone!"—"Rosenall," by Ernest Raymond.

COMMENT

Maysville is visited by fake beggars most every day. A few days ago a young man, with a crippled arm, touched the engineer of this column for a donation. The beggar told a plausible story and we donated. He said that he was unable to find work that he could do. We suggested that we might be of service to him in finding some light work and made an engagement for him to call at the office. He has not yet called.

Are you going to answer to the call of your name on the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. There should not be a failure to respond in Mason County. A dollar could not be better invested for the relief of the world's suffering humanity.

The taste of chlorine in the city water is not at all pleasing but it is assuring that the water company officials are on the job. The river is very low and river water is very dangerous just now. We are glad to know that our water is being freed of live germs before it is dished out to us.

The good people of Orangeburg have reason to be proud of their splendid new Consolidated School building. We have inspected it and have found it to be complete. The students of this school have every convenience of the modern city school building.

The hunting season opens today and hundreds will take to field with gun and dog. Ninety per cent. of all hunting accidents are caused by carelessness in the handling of weapons. Play safety-first while hunting this year. Don't take chances, it's too dangerous and don't pay.

Maysville's postoffice changes hands today and for the first time in the history of the city, a woman will be in charge of affairs at the local post office. We predict a successful and popular administration.

In the resignation of Mr. Howard Rosser as superintendent of the Mason County Infirmary, the county loses one of its best officials. With an antiquated plant, Mr. Rosser has cared for the county's unfortunate in a very thorough manner. His management has been complimented by state officials and he is honored and respected by the inmates of the institution. This job is no little job and the Commissions are going to find it no easy task to find a man to take Howard Rosser's place and do it anything like as well as he has done it for many years.

It appears that the County Commissioners have just about decided to stucco the court house after the first of the year. This is indeed good news for our capitol has been in bad condition for the lack of paint for many months and has even been the subject of grand jury attention. Mason county's court house is a beautiful old building and a covering of stucco will add much to its beauty and yet will not modernize its antique appearance which is so very attractive to visitors.

FERTILITY WORTH MILLIONS LEAVES SOILS IN LEAF CROP.

Lexington, Ky. — Close to $6,000,000 worth of soil fertility will be taken away from Kentucky farms when the state's estimated 1922 crop of 500,000,000 pounds of tobacco is marketed, according to R. E. Stephenson, soils specialist of the College of Agriculture.

This is a very drain on the fertility of the state's farms that takes away part food worth more than twice the amount that is returned in commercial fertilizers. Stalks that are produced along with the leaf make good fertilizer and if they are used carefully will help considerably toward checking the annual drain on soils that grow tobacco, Mr. Stephenson says.

A total of 150,000,000 pounds of tobacco stalks, or 75,000 tons, are produced along with a crop of 500,000,000 pounds of leaf. Figured at the cost of commercial fertilizers, the value of the nitrogen, potash and phosphorus taken from the soil by a ton of stalks alone is worth $18. At this rate, the 75,000 tons of stalks produced in the state this year contain fertilized worth $1,350,000. This makes the value of the stalks greater than the commercial fertilizer used on the tobacco crop.

Tobacco is especially rich in nitrogen and potash and therefore make a good supplement for phosphate fertilizers. A ton of the stalks contains about as much nitrogen and potash as eight tons of stable manure. They should therefore, be spread over as large an area as possible when being used on the farm. The stalks are excellent for top dressing young grass or small grain in the spring.

Both the nitrogen and the potash in tobacco is quite soluble and leaches

Forty Taylor county farmers have entered their poultry flocks in the winter egg laying project being conducted over the state by the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington, according to County Agent J. L. Miller. They will follow recommended practices during the next five months in order to find out for themselves whether or not hens will lay more eggs during the winter if they are fed the right kind of feeds and given good care.

CHILE AGAIN STRUCK BY QUAKE.

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 14.—A severe earth tremor shook the region of Constitucion, Chile, last night, causing fresh panic among the thousands of home less victims of the quake of Saturday, which cost 1400 lives.

Little additional damage was reported.

The Chilean government is rushing relief to sufferers in the northern coastal towns. Hundreds are being fed from warships, while pack trains are pushing into the hills where rail communication was disrupted by the shock.

SUPREME COURT

UPHOLDS VACCINATION.

Newport, Ky., Nov. 13.—The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States today upholding the validity of legislation and city ordinances which compel the vaccination of school children, is of interest to many Northern Kentuckians.

Several weeks ago suit was filed in the Campbell Circuit Court to enjoin the Kentucky State Board of Health and the Newport Board of Health from enforcing a rule of the State Board making it compulsory that all school children be vaccinated.

FALL FRUIT TREE SETTING UNDER WAY OVER KENTUCKY.

Lexington, Ky. — The fall planting of fruit trees is on in full swing in almost every part of the state, according to W. W. Magill, orchard extension specialist of the College of Agriculture Nurseries are making numerous shipments of young trees while scores of farmers are making plans for their future orchards. The care that is given the young trees from the time they arrive at the railroad station until they are planted plays a large part in determining whether or not they live, Mr. Magill says.

Trees from the nursery should be heeled in at some spot convenient to the orchard site just as soon as possible after they arrive. This is done by digging a trench deep enough to fully cover the roots and sloping considerably more to one side than it does on the other. The trees are then separated and their roots placed close together along the trench with the trunks on the sloping side. The soil is then carefully worked in around the roots and tramped down solid.

A good way to keep the tree roots from drying out while the planting is being done is to put them in a barrel or tub half full of a thick mud made by mixing water and clay soil. The barrel or tub and the trees can be moved easily from place to place if they are placed on a sled or wagon. Most commercial growers of the state prefer to plant their trees in the fall, since the soil is more tillable at this time and becomes firmly settled around the roots of the young trees before they start growing in the spring. However, if bad weather stops the planting before the trees are all set those that are left can be heeled in and kept over for spring planting. Damage from rabbits to the newly set trees can be stopped by putting poultry netting two feet high around them.

Apple trees are best planted about 35 by 35 feet and peach trees about 24 by 24 feet apart. When the holes for the trees are being dug, the top and sub soil should be kept separate so that the richer top soil can be placed around the roots of the trees. It is not a good practice to mix straw, manure or leaves with the dirt as the holes are being filled as these tend to stop the rise of water through the soil and may cause the tree to die because of lack of moisture. Care should be taken to pack the soil well around the roots.

JEFFERSON FARMERS USING COVER CROPS TO SAVE SOIL.

Louisville, Ky. — Hundreds of Jefferson county farmers have taken steps to protect their fields from soil washing and the leaching away of plant food during the coming winter by seeding them to cover crops, according to County Agent F. E. Marri-man. Thirty farmers of the county are co-operating with the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington and Mr. Merriman, in carrying out demonstrations on their farms to show how these crops keep soils from washing and save hundreds of dollars worth of plant food that leaches away if the fields are left bare.

THE "MOTHER OF MEDICINE"

Isis, the Queen and afterwards the Goddess, was called the "Mother of Medicine." In ancient Egypt, centuries before Christ, women were skilled in medicine. They knew the great value of medicinal plants.

Hippocrates, the "Father of Medicine," many centuries later, knew less of the merit of vegetable drugs than did the women of ancient times.

Lydia E. Pinkham, nearly fifty years ago, gave to women her Vegetable Compound, now known everywhere as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This is a woman's medicine for woman's ailments, prepared from medicinal plants.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 15. — Twelve prisoners were killed and a squad of soldiers buried beneath falling walls when a new series of earthquakes occurred in the Copiapo district early today.

The soldiers were searching among ruins for victims of last Saturday's terrific quakes when the new shocks occurred. The falling walls of buildings covered the men, but most escaped without serious injury.

Helen, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cook, of Commerce street, is quite ill.
